About Lafayette High School

Lafayette opened its doors in 1939 and was named for Marquis de Lafayette, the famed French general of the Revolutionary War. Lafayette High School is one of five public high schools in Lexington and serves over 2000 students. The school combines a comprehensive high school curriculum with the School for Creative and Performing Arts Magnet Program (SCAPA) as well as a pre-engineering magnet. Lafayette has a strong tradition of excellence and enjoys outstanding alumni and parental support. Lafayette has many distinguished alumni including actors Harry Dean Stanton and Jim Varney, former Kentucky Governors John Y. Brown, Jr. and Ernie Fletcher, Olympic sprinter Tyson Gay, and the Episcopal Bishop, Reverend Gene Robinson, among many others.

Music Opportunities at Lafayette

The music department at Lafayette has a long tradition of excellence in all areas. The Lafayette Marching Band has been the KMEA 5A state champion eighteen times. The Lafayette Orchestra has performed at the Midwest Clinic, and featured a number of times at KMEA state conference. In 2005, Lafayette was recognized as a Grammy Signature School honoring schools across the country for outstanding commitment to music programs. Lafayette students have a wide variety of musical choices including a number of vocal ensembles, an instrumental program consisting of strings, wind band, percussion, jazz band, piano, and a comprehensive theatre program. Lafayette also offers beginning piano and music technology courses.

As part of the School of Creative and Performing Arts (SCAPA) program, students can choose a major in music (including voice, band, orchestra, or piano), dance, art, creative writing, and theatre. The SCAPA program is limited to 250 students in all areas and students are chosen by audition. For voice majors, the SCAPA curriculum includes music theory courses, private voice study and ensemble singing. Voice students receive private instruction during their choir class approximately once every two weeks, participate in monthly performance/master classes and semester recitals and juries.

About the Choral Department

The Lafayette Choral Department serves over 200 students in six choirs and consistently receives distinguished ratings at festivals and competitions. The choirs have performed in concert with the University of Louisville Collegiate Chorale, the University of Kentucky Symphonic Band, and are regularly invited to perform with the Lexington Philharmonic and Central Kentucky Youth Orchestra. The choir has received clinics from internationally recognized conductors, Dr. Eph Ehly (Kansas City Conservatory, Ret.), Dr. Anton Armstrong (St. Olaf College), Dr. Jefferson Johnson (University of Kentucky), Dr. Kent Hatteberg (University of Louisville), and Dr. Jonathan Reed (Michigan State). The choirs have twice appeared before the Kentucky Music Educator's Association Conference and tour regularly. Recent tours have included New York City, Orlando, Gatlinburg, Washington D.C., and Chicago. The choirs have sung at well-known venues including the Basilica of the National Shrine and the White House in Washington D.C. and St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City.

An important focus of the choral department is individual improvement. This is supported through an after school private lesson program entitled Mastering Musicianship funded in part by the Lafayette Chorus Boosters. Nearly forty percent of Lafayette choral students take private voice lessons either at Lafayette or with independent private teachers. LHS Choral Department graduates a number of students each year who go on to major in music at some of the top colleges and conservatories in the country.

About the Madrigal Singers

The Madrigal Singers are primarily juniors and seniors often enrolled in the course as their second choral ensemble. The group performs chamber music, madrigals, and high quality choral repertoire from all time periods and styles. The Lafayette Madrigal Singers compete annually in the University of Louisville Margaret Comstock Chamber Choir Competition and have won first place eight times. The Madrigals pride themselves in singing a variety of foreign languages and a repertoire of entirely a cappella music. The group last performed for the Kentucky Music Educator's Association State Conference in February 2009 and for the Southern Division American Choral Director's Association Convention in 2010.

Gitanjali Chants – Craig Hella Johnson

Ever in my life have I sought thee with my songs.
It was they who led me from door to door, and with them have I felt about me, searching and touching my world.

It was my songs that taught me all the lessons I ever learnt;
they showed me secret paths, they brought before my sight many a star on the horizon of my heart.

They guided me all the day long to the mysteries of the country of pleasure and pain, and, at last to what palace gate have they brought me at the end of my journey?

You came down from your throne and stood at my cottage door.
I was singing all alone in a corner, and the melody caught your ear.

Masters are many in our hall, and songs are sung there at all hours.
But the simple carol of this novice struck at your love.

One plaintive little strain, mingled with the great music of the world, and with a flow'r for a prize,
you came down and stopped at my cottage door.

*A Bengali text by Rabindranath Tagore (1861 - 1941)
from Gitanjali, no. 101*

Jauchzet dem Herrn – Felix Mendelssohn

Shout for joy to the Lord, all the world!
Serve the Lord with gladness; come before his presence with rejoicing! Know that the Lord God is.
He has made us, and not we ourselves,
to be his people and the sheep of his pasture.
Go into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise.
Give thanks to him; praise his name!
For the Lord is kind, and his mercy lasts eternally,
and his truth forever and ever.

Psalm 100

Hannah Neff, Diane Clements, Melissa Findley, Amelia Giancarlo, Scott DiMeo, Cooper Fitch, Kurtis Brown, Sam Ifeacho, octet

O Magnum Mysterium – Ivo Antognini

O great mystery and wondrous sacrament, that animals should see the new born Lord lying in their manger!
Blessed is the Virgin whose womb was worthy to bear
the Lord Jesus Christ. Alleluia!

The Responsory following the fourth Lesson of Matins for Christmas Day

Régi Tánctal – Hungarian Folksong, arr. Lajos Bárdos

Andandóri tammbúr...

Dear rose, sweethart, can you hear,
the song is calling you?

Csengön, bongón

The happy music is calling, let me dance with you!
Come, O come, my sweet lover, the sound of our singing should fly far today:
Life is so beautiful like this (together)!

The string of the double base is brumming - cimbalcimm.

The cimbalom, is playing happily. Look, the other (musician) gives him the joyful mood by playing his flute!
Your dancing feet will not get tired. I can see that now you are dancing from your heart, (not half-heartedly) again and again.

Your knee bends as the tender branch of the rose tree bends in the calm breeze.

You come to me as if you were an Angel who flies towards me!

Your tender shoulder,
the blush on your face is more beautiful,
than the rose petals in the morning light of ascension
Sunday in the garden.

Tambur, andandori...

The sigh of my heart flies to you and I ask you while holding your hands:
to take home the music of my soul,
so it can always accompany you.

Even if someone else takes you to dance
it does not separate us.

(Because you hear the music of my soul which accompanies you.)

Heart (your) for (my) heart, this is our happiness.
Life is so beautiful like this (together)!

Only in Sleep – Ēriks Ešvalds

Only in sleep I see their faces,
Children I played with when I was a child.
Louise comes back with her brown hair braided,
Annie with ringlets warm and wild.

Only in sleep time is forgotten –
What may have come to them, who can know?
Yet we played last night as long ago,
and the dollhouse stood at the turn of the stair.

The years had not sharpened their smooth round faces,
I met their eyes and found them mild –
Do they, too, dream of me, I wonder,
and for them am I too a child?

Text by Sara Teasdale Quentin Prewitt, solo

Organ Fugue – J. S. Bach, arr. Ward Swingle (BWV 578)

Sung with scat syllables by Ward Swingle

Gula Meitina – Latvian Folksong, arr. Youth Choir Balsis

The young girl slept until breakfast time.
The young boy, he didn't notice.
Get up, young maiden, my sweetheart.
Haven't you slept enough yet?

The young girl slept until supper time.
The young boy, he didn't notice.
Get up, young maiden, my sweetheart.
Haven't you slept enough yet?

They laid the young maiden in a white coffin.
The young boy still didn't believe it.
Get up, young maiden, my sweetheart.
Haven't you slept enough yet?

Take a sword and chop off my head.
Lay me down beside her!
Get up, young maiden, my sweetheart.
Haven't you slept enough yet?

Latvian folksong

Twa Tanbou – Sydney Guillaume

Three drums are having an argument on a great Sunday morning on their way back from Guinea.
A little Kata... A little Tanbouren... A big Boula...

Boula declared that he can hit the loudest.
“I can hit the loudest!”

Tanbouren said, “I have the most beautiful sound.
When I perform, keep quiet and listen!”

Kata who was hearing all this became angry.
He could not comprehend how two soldiers who are dressed with the same outfit and are children of the same mother are sitting around making a scandal.

One fine Mardi-Gras day, Kata started to “zouk.”
Every single person there began to dance...
Tanbouren and Boula who were there listening,
to make the party more exciting,
they started a great throng.

That day, they all sang a song that I’ll never forget:
All drums that are dispersed, let’s put our shoulders together to make life more beautiful.

Sung in Haitian Creole, text by Louis-Marie Célestin

SACRED &

The sacred and profane dichotomy is a religious concept from Émile Durkheim, who is considered the father of sociology. According to Durkheim, things which are sacred are those that represent unity and the interests of the group. The sacred sets apart the extraordinary, awe-inspiring and reverent. That which is profane represents mundane, ordinary, individual elements of life. For Durkheim, sacred and profane did not equate to good and evil.

In our program, we have included pieces that explore emotions, and themes of human shared experience; themes of life, birth, youth, love, joy, loss, memory, unity and many more. The works at times seemingly reach into both realms.
